

Art show will celebrate our greenery

An art show where people are encouraged to bring pictures of their favourite Islington greenery starts on Friday.

Species of Trees and Other Landscapes begins a two-week exhibition at the Islington Arts Factory, in Parkhurst Road, Holloway, featuring the work of artist David Harker.

There will also be a public participation project, in which visitors are invited to bring their own photographs of landscapes, parks and trees.

The exhibition runs until July 18 and entrance is free. For more information visit islingtonarts-factory.org.

Enjoy a US beer on Independence Day

A Holloway venue is serving up a mix of US beers in honour of US Independence Day on Friday.

Jenius Social, a new "social hub" in Hornsey Street, Holloway, will let visitors taste their way through the best current US craft beers.

American microbreweries are famous for their creative, up-front flavours, six of which will be available on the night.

Independence Day Craft Beer Tasting runs from 6.30-8.30pm.

Tickets cost £28 including beer and food. Call 020 3286 4998.
